A Factor in the War.

The orthodox church of Russia, with its two orders of clergy, plays a powerful part in the war in Ausris and Poland. This intensely interesting article, tomorrow in the Special Features Section of The Sun-day Star, tells of the influence the "black" and the "white" clergy exert upon their followers.

For many years past the National Museum has been employing natural scenery—real grass, foliage and soll—in its biological and enthnographic groups, much as in theatrical effects, to create a natural atmosphere. Nowadays museums do not simply mount in dividual animals on a platform and place them in a case. They are mounted in natural attitudes and groundwork suitable to both the environment and the posture of the figures is prepared.
